Delaware Department of Justice Statement on investigation of Dr. Earl B. Bradley

The Delaware Department of Justice is actively participating in the investigation involving Doctor Earl B. Bradley of Lewes, Delaware. We are devoting all of the resources at our disposal to this ongoing investigation.

To-date, the investigation has revealed multiple victims in this case. The Delaware State Police encourages individuals who have information to provide in this case to call Troop 4 at (302) 856-5850, ext. 216. We urge parents of patients, regardless of the age of the child, or former patients of Dr. Bradley to come forward and provide information or report suspicious activity to this number.

The Delaware Department of Justice provides specialized services to victims of crime and their families through its Victim Services Unit. In cases involving young victims its specially-trained Social Workers and Victim Services Specialists, along with prosecutors and other staff, work with parents of child victims so that they can provide the most appropriate care and support. This staff also works to inform parents about the impact of victimization on children, to educate them about the criminal justice system, and to connect them to appropriate clinical resources that may provide additional services.
